

ABSTRACT

A reinforced silt retention sheet is provided for use in soil erosion control applications. The reinforced silt retention sheet includes a web of material that allows water to pass therethrough but resists the passage of silt and debris therethrough. The 5 silt retention sheet includes one or more reinforcing elements that provide attachment points for fasteners used to fasten the sheet to support members for proper positioning during erosion control applications.